The Sub-Fund may invest in foreign exchange forwards (contracts to exchange foreign currencies at an agreed date in the future) for hedging and currency risk management purposes.

The Sub-Fund may use currency hedging (the technique of buying or selling currencies to minimize fluctuations in non-Euro currency investments resulting from foreign exchange movements). The sub-fund may enter into financial derivative instruments for efficient portfolio management and hedging purposes. These financial derivative instruments will include swaps, options, futures and forwards contracts.

There is no guarantee that this will be successful. Any income that may arise in the Sub-Fund will be reinvested in the Sub-Fund.

- This Sub-Fund is classified in the risk and reward category 4 because the investments' value can be subject to daily fluctuations, both positive and negative.

- The risk and reward category shown is not guaranteed to remain unchanged and the categorization of the Sub-Fund may shift over time.
- Even the lowest risk category does not mean a risk-free investment.

THE SYNTHETIC RISK AND REWARD INDICATOR DOES NOT ADEQUATELY CAPTURE THE FOLLOWING RISKS:

- Developing market risk: The Sub-Fund is exposed to securities highly sensitive to political and economic instability of developing countries such as civil conflicts, changes in government policies and in taxation, currency fluctuations and other developments in the laws and regulations of countries in which investments may be made. Price changes may be higher than those in the markets of developed countries.

- CoCo risk: Investments in CoCos may expose the Sub-Fund to different risks, the main ones being: Conversion risk, Write down, Coupon Cancellation, Call extension risk, Capital structure inversion risk, Industry concentration risk (as described in the Prospectus).
- Liquidity risk: The Sub-Fund invests in markets that can be characterized by a reduced possibility to exchange securities without a negative impact on prices.
- Counterparty risk: The Sub-Fund invests into instruments, such as derivatives, by entering into contracts with financial counterparties, exposing itself to the risk that said intermediaries may generate financial damage to the fund itself by not fulfilling their obligations in the future.
